

COMMUNICATION

Office: 585 Manoogian Hall; 313-577-2943

Interim Chairperson: Pradeep Sopory

Undergraduate Program Director: Jessica Greenwald

<https://comm.wayne.edu/>

The primary aim of this department is to assist students in developing the ability to communicate effectively and to understand the principles of the communication process. The variety of degree programs provides broad liberal arts education as well as specific career training. Undergraduate and graduate majors may prepare for careers in several fields: industrial relations; sales; personnel; public relations; radio, television, film; journalism; teaching; law; and, the ministry.

The department sponsors several student activities that are available to all University students. These include intercollegiate debate and speech teams. Wayne State University has undergraduate chapters of Lambda Pi Eta, Forensic Union, Delta Sigma Rho-Tau Kappa Alpha, the Film Association, the Society of Professional Journalists and the Public Relations Student Society of America. Talent scholarships are also available to students interested in forensics or debate.

COM 1010 is designed for those who wish to improve their general communicative ability. This course can be taken to fulfill the University's General Education Competency Requirement in Oral Communication (OC). This requirement should be completed within the first 60 credit hours. Courses in persuasive speaking, discussion, debate, interpersonal communication and small group offer additional opportunities to study and practice general communication skills.
