Wayne State University has a rich athletic tradition dating back to the fall of 1917 and recently celebrated 100 years of singular outreach and academic success. The first Detroit Junior College athletic event (precursor of Wayne State University) was a basketball game against the Detroit College of Law on January 19, 1918. Since then WSU student-athletes have captured numerous honors, including national championships awarded by the NCAA and conference championships. In the past 10 years, 254 WSU student-athletes have been recognized as All-American. In the 103 year history, 695 students have been so recognized. Over seventy-six percent (76.42%) of the nearly 400-plus student-athletes currently involved in competitive athletics have a 3.00 or better cumulative grade point average with every team having a GPA of at least 3.0 or better. According to the latest federally mandated report, WSU student-athletes Academic Success Rate is seventy-six percent (76%). The athletic department provides competitive opportunities in the following sports: baseball, men’s and women’s basketball, men’s and women’s cross country, men’s and women’s fencing, football, men’s and women’s golf, softball, men’s and women’s swimming/diving, men’s and women’s tennis, volleyball, and women’s indoor/outdoor track. During the 2018-19 academic year, 10 out of 18 programs competed in NCAA championships. In 2012, women’s swimming and diving won the NCAA National Championship joining 10 other programs to be so honored. The past 18 years WSU Athletics has had its 18 highest ratings in the annual NACDA Cup and in 13 of the past 16 years finished in the top 12% of the 319 institutions in Division II. The NACDA ranks the top overall competitive intercollegiate athletic programs in the country.

The University competes at the NCAA Division II level, while the men’s and women’s fencing programs participate in the NCAA Collegiate National Championship. WSU student-athletes have served nearly 82,000 community service hours over the last eight years.

Many new facilities adorn the WSU athletic campus, including the Harwell Museum which contains numerous exhibits which pay tribute to Ernie’s marriage to Lulu, audio and video of Harwell’s signature calls and moments and the controversial Jose Feliciano national anthem during the 1968 World Series. There are interactive areas where you can listen to other announcer’s great calls, watch Ernie’s farewell speech and read letters written to Ernie. In addition, Harwell Field has a replica Fenway Park outfield fence, Major League size dugouts and through an arrangement with the Detroit Historical Society, the left field scoreboard from the former Tiger Stadium is attached to the base of the left field wall.

The Doris J. & Donald L. Duchene, Sr. Athletic Facility was the first new athletic building in over 50 years on the athletic campus. Completed in the Fall of 2011, the building has 35,000 square feet of space with a maximum ceiling height of 35 feet. Enclosed are four tennis courts, a sprint track (60 yards), locker rooms for the men’s and women’s tennis, and baseball squads along with six offices for coaches and staff.

The nearly 12,000 square foot, state-of-the-art Athletic Performance Center was completed and opened in May of 2018 and gives student-athletes access to 24 work stations.

The softball facility was completed in three phases with the complex paid entirely by private revenue sources. Phase I was completed in 2005 and established the first grandstands and press box. Phase II added a locker room, offices, foyer, training room, restrooms and a new dugout. The final phase (completed in Spring 2013) added batting and pitching cages, and outdoor bullpens. On Nov. 12, 2016, the field was named Gary L. Bryce Field in honor of the long-time head coach with the installation of a new scoreboard. In the weeks preceding the naming of the field, the home run fences were pushed back to accommodate new NCAA guidelines.

The University offers a wide and varied program of recreational and intramural activities. The Matthaei Complex, and the surrounding athletic campus on 43 acres of land, located on the west end of campus, offers a myriad of drop-in activity areas that include courts and fields for basketball, football, jogging, racquetball, soccer, squash, tennis, and volleyball, a weight training/exercise room, and swimming facilities. Use of these facilities is free with a current University ID or with a membership.
